ATLANTA – June 23, 2017 – Public Service Commissioner Tim Echols continues the 7th annual Clean Energy Roadshow on Tuesday June 27, 2017 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. at the Savannah International Trade and Convention Center, One International Drive, Hutchinson Drive, Savannah, Georgia 31402. The event is hosted by the Georgia Municipal Association, the annual event which draws thousands of municipal leaders each year and will offer this look at how municipalities can get started with alternative fuel vehicles, solar and energy efficiency projects.

The Clean Energy Roadshow will feature an outdoor vehicle showcase of propane, natural gas, electric and biodiesel cars, trucks and buses during the event at the northeast side main entrance of the convention center adjacent to the parking lots. Interviews with city officials and energy experts will be available from 8 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and from 11:15 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The Vehicle Showcase will include ride and drive opportunities in the all-electric Nissan LEAF, a propane Vision school bus by Blue Bird, the Ford F150 bi-fuel natural gas truck, and Ford propane police cruisers and biodiesel cars. The Showcase will also debut a new electric 14 passenger van manufactured by a Georgia company, Green 4U, based in Braselton. Solar, as well as energy efficient lighting, battery storage and EV charging will also be displayed.

"Alternative Fuels that are made in America help make our country more independent," said Commissioner Echols. "Our Showcase focuses on educating business and civic leaders on which fuel will work for their application."

On site media contact is Bill Edge, Public Information Officer, Georgia Public Service Commission, phone 404-406-5120. For more information on the 2017 Clean Energy Roadshow, visit www.cleanenergyroadshow.com, 678--390-2737.

This is Commissioner Echols second term on the Georgia Public Service Commission, having been re-elected statewide in November 2016. You can find his complete biography and photo on the Commission web site at <http://www.psc.state.ga.us/pscinfo/bios/echols.asp?tab=Tab2>.
